
Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of Abbreviations	xi
Introduction	1
Chapter One: Housewife or Shop Girl? Alienation and (Anti-) Romance in Die Liebhaberinnen	8
“Sexuality is to Feminism What Work is to Marxism”: Alienated Sexuality and/as Labor	10
Limitations to a Marxist/Socialist Feminist Analysis	26
Lacanian Alienation and Metonymy.....	28
“Reading the (Anti-) Romance”: Die Liebhaberinnen and the Romance Novel	34
Chapter Two: A Jouissance Beyond the Phallus? Lust and Pornography	43
An Artistic Anti-Pornography?	43
The Misfortunes of Justine and Gerti: Reading Jelinek with Sade.....	49
Female Sexuality and Jouissances	63
A Pessimistic Pornography Without Pleasure	71
Chapter Three: Portrait of the Artist as a (Not-So) Young Pervert: Pianos, Perversion and Sublimation in Die Klavierspielerin	74
The Androgynous Piano: Women’s Piano Playing as Feminine and Masculine	76
Excursus: Clara S.	82
The Piano and Erika’s Sexual Position	85
Sublimation and Perversion: Die Klavierspielerin as Anti-Künstlerroman	91
Notes	101
Introduction.....	101
Chapter One.....	102
Chapter Two.....	106
Chapter Three.....	110
Bibliography.....	115
Index.....	133